

Santana New Home

Mixed ICF and frame method

This home is a mixed method design. It was constructed with insulated concrete foam on the first floor and wood framing on the second floor.

It has a metal roof, further enhancing the low maintenance needs of the home's exterior.

